Live. And Learn.

Do you sometimes feel as if aliens have invaded your office or work space? Whether you like it or not, the Millennials are coming! This new generation of employees think, communicate, and behave differently. Often, these differences lead to misunderstandings and conflict. The Missouri Training Institute has been helping Missouri's businesses understand the motivations, perspectives, and work habits of this new generation of employees. Learn what you can do to motivate, coach, and lead them more effectively.
