- Local residents and especially students supported America's war effort by raising money for the construction of three B-25 bombers (Spirit of Sikeston, the Sikeston Bulldog and the City of Sikeston). - By 1912, Sikeston had approximately 50 businesses; several general stores, two flour mills, three churches, three banks, two newspapers and two schools. City-provided water, sewer and electrical service were established, and brick streets were installed. It is said that during this period Sikeston became home to more millionaires than any city of its size in the United States.
